NOTES

THE "GLOBE RULE" FOR DETERMINING APPROPRIATE BARGAINING UNITS UNDER THE WAGNER ACT

Under the Wagner Act the agent selected by a majority of employees in an appropriate bargaining unit is the exclusive representative of all the employees in that unit for the purposes of bargaining with the employer.¹ The National Labor Relations Board is empowered by Section 9(b) of the act to determine in each case what unit of workers is appropriate for bargaining.²

² "The Board shall decide in each case whether, in order to insure to employees the full benefit of their right to self-organization and to collective bargaining, and otherwise to effectuate the policies of this Act, the unit appropriate for the purposes of collective bargaining shall be the employer unit, craft unit, plant unit, or subdivision thereof." 49 Stat. 449, 453 (1935) 29 U.S.C.A. §159(b) (Supp. 1938).
